IN HAWAII

» MANOA FALLS
End of Manoa Road
This easy 0.8-mile walking trail winds through a rainforest featuring a bamboo forest, fantastical arched trees and a lush green canopy featured in “Jurassic Park” and “Lost.” The well-marked path ends at one of the island’s many waterfalls. Don’t be deterred by a little rain; the more misty, the more majestic the falls—and a higher chance for you to catch a coveted double rainbow.

» ALAN WONG’S HONOLULU
1857 S. King Street, #208
Located on the third floor of a nondescript office building, this groundbreaking restaurant is warm and welcoming as it is delicious once you get inside. Hawaii’s diverse cultures are reflected in an innovative, modern menu that showcases quality ingredients, from Big Island produce to fresh-caught seafood. Signature cocktails like The Bully, a pineapple martini, knock the umbrella out of typical vacation libations.

» UNCLE CLAY’S HOUSE OF PURE ALOHA
820 West Hind Drive, #116
Feel like part of the ohana when you step into this shave ice spot, known for all-natural, house-made syrups, plus Uncle Clay himself, who spreads the aloha spirit with his permanent smile and delicious, cool treats. Affectionately nicknamed HOPA by the locals, the family-owned and run shop serves bowls lovingly assembled with ice cream, azuki beans, handmade mochi, fresh fruit, packed ice and your choice of syrup for a refreshing treat.

» IOLANI PALACE
364 S. King Street
Built as a symbol of promise of Hawaii’s future in 1882, this national landmark is the only royal palace in the United States. Take a tour through the majestic, Italianate building where you can strike a pose next to an impressive staircase in the grand hall, stroll the beautiful grounds and visit the Imprisonment Room where Queen Liliuokalani was held under house arrest following the overthrow of her government.†
